Speedy Approval Of Neil McElroy By Senate Seen

Soap Company Head Succeeds Wilson As Defense Secretary

WASHINGTON — Senate leaders said today that Neil H. McElroy, soap company executive, should win speedy confirmation as secretary of defense.

But he must wait at least a week and agree to dispose of his holdings in some corporations that now have defense and government contracts.

The nomination of McElroy, 52, president of Procter & Gamble Co., went to the Senate Wednesday afternoon a few hours after President Eisenhower had described him as "one of the most capable men and the highest type of people that I know in the country."

Wilson Sends Resignation

He succeeds Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, 67, whose formal resignation was sent to the White House.

"He's a fine man," Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), Senate Republican leader, said of McElroy. "As far as I know there will be no trouble about confirmation."

No date was announced for McElroy's taking over the post, but in Cincinnati McElroy said it probably would be a couple of months.

It was learned that Wilson, former president of General Motors who ran into some delay before winning confirmation in 1953, already had helped McElroy pave the way for confirmation.

The veteran Pentagon chief arranged conferences with Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.), Chairman Russell (D-Ga.) of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) and Knowland before McElroy's name was sent up officially.

Is Director of 2 Corporations

McElroy is a director of both General Electric and Chrysler Corp., large defense contractors, and must dispose of those interests.

Warning that modern warfare could lead to the devastation of densely populated areas, Khrushchev declared:

"This (destructive power) should be kept in mind by statesmen of England, France and other countries whose areas would be in range of atomic and hydrogen weapons in case military operations start."

"Statesmen of the United States should also think about it as in our time, where rocket developments are rapid, distances cannot save any country from the effects of atomic and hydrogen weapons."

Abel, who entered the United States from Canada in 1948, was being held for deportation in the nearby McAllen (Tex.) Detention Camp for Aliens when the indictment was returned Wednesday.

He had been held only as an illegal alien under the name of Emil R. Goldfus, an alias he assumed while working as an obscure photographic artist in Brooklyn.

The government, claimed in the event of war, Abel was set up in Brooklyn to receive sabotage instructions from Moscow.

Abel apparently was linked to a Kremlin master spy who was involved in the first big espionage scandal after World War II.

Four Russians were named as coconspirators with Abel, but not as defendants. They included Vitali G. Pavlov, who headed a Russian secret police network based in the Soviet Embassy in Ottawa, Canada. It was broken up in 1945 after the arrest of atomic-traitor Dr. Alan Nunn May.

House Gets Civil Rights Bill After Senate Okay

Red Warns U. S. Of Hydrogen Rocket Threat

Khrushchev States War Over Germany Would Bring Attack

BERLIN — Russian Communist party chief Nikita Khrushchev today warned that the explosion of war over Germany would bring the United States under the threat of attack from hydrogen rockets.

Khrushchev told a special session of the East German Parliament the Western powers are trying to turn West Germany into a war base and are creating "an extremely serious situation."

"They want to use the German people as cannon fodder in their plans to conquer the world," the Red chieftain declared.

The speech parroted numerous other blasts from Khrushchev. Presumably this time it was intended to scare West German voters who on Sept. 15 elect a new Parliament and decide whether to retain the government of staunchly pro-Western, anti-Communist Chancellor Konrad Adenauer.

Before Khrushchev spoke, East German Premier Otto Grotewohl restated his regime's endorsement of the long-standing Soviet proposal for the withdrawal of Russian and Western troops from German soil.

Warning that modern warfare could lead to the devastation of densely populated areas, Khrushchev declared:

"This (destructive power) should be kept in mind by statesmen of England, France and other countries whose areas would be in range of atomic and hydrogen weapons in case military operations start."

"Statesmen of the United States should also think about it as in our time, where rocket developments are rapid, distances cannot save any country from the effects of atomic and hydrogen weapons."

Willis Rupert Farm Scene of Demonstrations

4,500 Attend Annual Field Day

Approximately 4,500 persons attended the annual Columbiana County Field Day at the Willis R. Rupert and Sons Farm near New Waterford Wednesday.

Fifteen hundred cars were parked during the day and at least three planes landed at the farm during the all-day session.

Highlight of the day was the picking of two contestants to represent Columbiana County as "Queen of the Furrow" at a regional contest which will take place at the Mahoning County Fair at Canfield the last of August.

Miss Knizat, 18, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Knizat who live on a 60-acre farm near Salem. Miss Converse, who is 17, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Curney Converse, who operate a 160-acre farm near Columbiana.

Donna is a graduate of Salem High School and Miss Converse a graduate of Fairfield High School. Both have been active in 4-H club work. The winner of the regional contest at the Canfield fair will enter the state contest in September and the queen will reign at the World's Conservation Exposition at Peebles, O., next month.

Donna Knizat of RD 2, Salem and Pat Converse of RD 2, Columbiana, won over eight other contestants the honor of being Columbiana County's representatives at the regional event.

Any person interested in farming the modern way was shown by farming experts pointed out to the visitors how a father and four sons, with the aid of the latest agricultural methods, have made a good living on their 296 acres of land.

The modern Rupert farm was a hub of demonstrations from 9 a. m. until 5 p.m.

Woman, 88, Lost On Pike's Peak

Mountain Climber Missing Four Days

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. — Hopes waned today for Mrs. Inestine B. Roberts, who is 88 and loves to climb mountains. She has been missing since Monday on Pike's Peak.

"I'm worried—I warned her not to try to limb it," said Mrs. Marjorie R. Feldkirchner, a daughter.

"We won't leave until we find her," said Sheriff Earl Sullivan, who led a hundred or so searchers in combing a 20-square-mile area Wednesday.

Mountain troops from Ft. Carson joined in. Two Civil Air Patrol planes circled overhead. The ground parties camped across the rugged northeast face of the mountain Wednesday night after their second day of hunting was fruitless.

Mrs. Roberts left her home in Colorado Springs Saturday on her 15th climb alone up the 14,100-foot peak. She reached the summit Sunday evening and started down Monday morning. The last one to see her Monday afternoon, said she carried a small bag of food.

The area where she disappeared is filled with crevices and wooded ravines. Brown bears, bighorn sheep and other wild animals roam the rugged terrain. Nighttime temperatures fall almost to freezing. There are deep snow drifts near the summit. Mrs. Roberts wore only light clothing and carried a cloth coat.

Through frail and white-haired, she has climbed some of the country's highest peaks. Last year she climbed mountains in Green Mountain National Park in Vermont.

Refreshments were furnished and served by Ardena McLaughlin and Jayne Shoop, den mothers of Pack 5.

House Decides To OK Chapel For Air Force

WASHINGTON — The House reversed itself Wednesday and agreed to allow funds to begin a new chapel at the Air Force Academy. Then it passed a 1 1/2 billion dollar appropriations bill, mostly to finance military construction.

The bill now goes to the Senate. The dispute over the chapel revolved around its proposed design. One House member called it a "monstrosity." On Tuesday, the House tentatively approved, 102-53, an amendment to bar use of any money in the bill on the chapel at Colorado Springs, Colo. But Wednesday the amendment was knocked out on a standing vote of 147-83.

The House also rejected, 150-59, a move to delete 12 1/2 million dollars to start construction of a second airport for the Washington area. The airport, to be built at nearby Burke, Va., will cost 50 millions.

The bill, passed 30-75, contains $1,581,590,587—all but about 60 millions of the total for military public works projects. The bill's total is more than 279 million dollars below President Eisenhower's original request.

Certificates of Birth, Death to Go Up Aug. 20

Beginning Aug. 20, the cost of a birth, stillbirth or death certificate issued by the health department will be $1. The cost at the present time is 50 cents.

Health Commissioner Dr. R. T. Holzbach explains that the fee was raised because of a senate bill enacted by the 102nd Ohio General Assembly.

The birth and death certificates may be obtained by mail if a letter containing the necessary information is accompanied by the required fee.

Ike May Call Fall Session If Law Falls Short

Trial Version Measure Roundly Condemned, But Wins by 54 Votes

WASHINGTON — A 72-18 Senate vote returned the civil rights bill to the House today amid reports President Eisenhower will call Congress back in November unless he gets a measure he feels he can sign.

The Senate's jury trial version of the bill was roundly condemned by civil rights advocates, but they helped supply the votes for the historic passage of the measure Wednesday night. It is the first of its kind approved by the Senate in more than 80 years.

Fate In House Uncertain

The fate of the bill was uncertain in the House, which passed a measure much broader in scope and more stringent in enforcement provisions by a 236-126 vote June 18.

But some House members who had spoken out most bitterly against the Senate changes were starting to talk more of compromises, expressing hope they still could salvage a bill they could consider worthwhile.

Because of the uncertainties, Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told a reporter it was "too early to say" whether a special civil rights session might be called in November.

Other senators said Knowland had told the Senate Republican Policy Committee in a closed meeting that a special session is a definite possibility if the Senate's version of the bill is not amended to conform more nearly to Eisenhower's wishes. Either the House or a Senate-House conference committee could make the changes, but in either case the Senate would have to approve later.

Eisenhower declined at his news conference Wednesday to shed any light on a possible veto. But responsible administration officials have said he will reject the measure if the jury trial provision inserted by the Senate is not revised.

Any such veto would be likely to be accompanied by the announcement that Congress will be called back to Washington this fall, these officials said. A special session call would be likely also, they added, if Congress decided

U. S. Dollar Problems Small Compared To Those In France

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The French today are having another money crisis. It comes in an era of almost unprecedented good times when you might think a money crisis unlikely.

In the United States there's no money crisis but there are sizable money troubles — both for those managing a business and those managing a family, and also even for Uncle Sam. This also comes in an era of generally good times. The French franc has sort of unofficially devaluated itself by dropping to the lowest point in five years on the black market. The American dollar is in no danger whatsoever of devaluation and there is no black market. But its purchasing power is being slowly (and also unofficially) devalued by the rising cost of living for consumers and rising costs of doing business and running the government.

In both countries those being hurt the most are much the same — small businessmen, small farmers, the white collar workers, those on fixed incomes. Those

7th Set of Twins Fails to Surprise Farmhand Father

PINE RIDGE, S.D. (AP)—Birth of their seventh set of twins in 14 years to the James Big Crows was so routine their father didn't even bother to go to the hospital to pace a corridor.

"It wasn't any surprise; the doctor said it probably would be doubles again," said Mrs. Marcella Big Crow. "You sort of get used to it after a while."

Big Crow, a temporarily unemployed farmhand, was philosophical about Tuesday's arrival of the new twins, who round out a family of 15 children.

He was concerned most about finding room for them in the two-room shack where the family lives at the edge of the Pine Ridge Indian reservation.

Facts And Tales

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Tales and tidbits: The U.S. housewife is becoming more and more electric — or at least electricity-minded.

Did you know that about one out of every 10 American women now uses an electric shaver?

This electrifying nugget of knowledge was disclosed in a survey which also found that 96.2 per cent of modern homes (those with wires) now have radios and 81 per cent have television sets.

In most families, however, father still has to mix his drinks and do the dishes by hand. Some 94.3 per cent of our homes are without blenders and 94.3 per cent have no automatic dishwashers.

Is it true that "an elephant never forgets?"

A German zoologist set out with typical Teutonic thoroughness to get the scientific answer. He found out that the elephant, which has a 13-pound brain (slightly larger than that of the average Harvard Freshman) does forget — by and large, appears to have a pretty fair memory.

Berlin Center Garden Club To Meet Tuesday

BERLIN CENTER — The Berlin Center Garden Club will meet Tuesday at noon at Shrader's Store. The group plans a picnic. The planning committee is Becky Haenry and Bird Shrader.

Bruce Weingart has returned to New York City after spending ten days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weingart.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Ripley and family and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kale spent Sunday at Nelson Ledges.

Forty-three members of the Hartzell family met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Dudley for a picnic dinner. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Dale Fields and family of Stoneboro, Pa. and Bob Lewis and daughter Sandra of Del Ray Beach, Fla.

MR. AND MRS. FOSTER Baringer and Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Baringer spent the weekend in Roseville.

Mr. and Mrs. Blaine Down of Warren were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cook Sunday.

The Want-To-Come-Back Club will meet Wednesday at the home of Freda Moherman. A covered dish dinner will be served at 12:30 p.m., followed by a business meeting. Mrs. Leland Leonard will be in charge of the meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Conard, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Yeager, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yeager, Mr. and Mrs. Forest Yeager, Mr. and Mrs. John Yeager, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yeager, attended the Yeager family reunion at VanBuren Park in Wayne County Sunday.

COUNTY FAIR STAR. — Jeannie Hogan, guitarist and bass fiddle player of the WIV Midwest Hayride program, will be among the entertainers at the Columbiana County fair in Lisbon Aug. 20-24.

He found, for example, that one lady elephant, when presented again with 13 pairs of cards she had learned before but hadn't viewed for a full year, had a recognition rating ranging from 73 to 100 per cent in 500 trials. The zoologist thought that was pretty good.

But wouldn't you like to get a rich lady elephant into a sky's-the-limit poker game, with all face cards wild?

Crusade for Freedom relays the story of the Romanian Communist who died and went to Hell. When he arrived at the entrance, he was surprised to find two doors.

On one door was the notice, "Communist Hell," and on the other, "Capitalist Hell."

"Which do you choose?" he was asked.

"The Communist Hell, of course," he replied. "There is bound to be a fuel shortage."

The Bordeaux section of France, noted for its wine, is busting its buttons in pride because a survey found it had, proportionate to its population, the largest number of centenarians in the country.

In one parish alone — St. Julian — 50 couple had been wed 50 years or more.

Marie Roubert, who was 104, cheered the wine producers by attributing her longevity to the fact that for over a century her diet had included red wine — and snails.

The prize example of virility, however, was Jean Mansard. At 99 Monsieur Mansard, who already had 9 children, married a girl of 18, who in due time bore the proud man his tenth offspring. Anybody care for a nice cold bottle of root beer?

Reverse Titoism

The hair-splitting that formerly was supposed to make an apparent difference between socialism and communism now is useless. It always was, except to show that communism was violent and revolutionary, while socialism was peaceful and parliamentary. But both were moving toward the same result — state domination.

The new socialists in the Kremlin are trying to close the breach and may be successful. Their strongest weapon may be the same Marshall Tito whose break with Moscow in 1948 proved that Yugoslavia could be pried away from the Communist conspiracy's headquarters in the Kremlin without losing its socialist identity.

Today, with Stalin gone and the Stalinists going, the new leadership in the Kremlin is trying to identify itself with socialism in other nations, starting with Tito's Yugoslavia.

The same ideological bellwether who led the retreat from Moscow nine years ago is being asked by the Muscovites to lead them down the same path.

The trick in this ideological double-shuffle will be to convince Tito that Khrushchev and his people are sincere. That is the Kremlin's problem.

The rest of us have a problem, too. It is how to keep our eyes fixed on the central aim of the Communist conspiracy. It now is advertising itself as socialism, as if that, somehow, had become desirable by being less bloody than communism. But the aim is still the destruction of all individual rights — everywhere.

Quality Counts

New York City has wept and wailed so loud about a Census Bureau survey which showed it was losing population that a comment in The New York Times may be of interest to residents of much smaller places hoping for residents of much smaller places hoping for future growth.

The Times admits what civic tub-thumpers always have hated to admit — that bigness is not a desirable goal in itself. If it were, says The Times, "we would cancel zoning, jerry-build all over, never tear down a tenement, let whole families living in single rooms, forget about all decencies."

There is an idea here from the biggest city that other cities could think about with profit as they strive to increase their size. Being bigger does not mean being better any more than being smaller guarantees quality.

There are small towns that are not fit to live in. There are big ones which are an abomination. Then there are cities which strive to be good places to live, regardless of size. They bear down on quality and quit worrying about quantity. New York, itself, may be forced to think about quality more seriously from now on as more and more of its overcrowded and hard-bitten inhabitants move elsewhere.

The time may be close at hand when cities will limit their populations to the maximum that can be guaranteed decent living conditions.

Parliamentary Baseball

It seems early to be firing baseball managers, but the season for the shuffle is here again. It is only four months more until football coaches who failed to perform miracles will be told to hunt work elsewhere, too.

The system that has been worked out in these two departments of U.S. sport bears a striking resemblance to parliamentary government in France, where the same men move in and out of power like a troupe of wrestlers putting on a traveling show.

The manager or coach who gets to the top remembers his friends who are on the way up or on the way down because he, himself, will need to be remembered before long. Old fall-guys never die; they just change jobs.

The string-pullers who work behind the scenes know how it works and are in favor of it. They have no beef against the men who are shuffled in and out of power. Their beef is against the public, which loads its criticism on the managers and coaches and drive them into the wilderness, like the proverbial scapegoat.

In no time at all, the scapegoat turns up somewhere else, ready to be loaded up and driven into the wilderness again. Scapegoating has become one of this country's best-paying occupations. Working conditions are not of the best, the future is uncertain and the past is shady. But you cannot beat the hours, as someone once said of baseball umpiring.

The way some politicians meet an issue you'd think they owed it money.

First it's boy meets girl and then it's man waits for wife.

For auto-driving drunks there's a morning after, or just a mourning.

When a person says that talk is cheap, ask him if he knows what a session of Congress costs.

Right To Vote Bill

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Passage Would End State Jurisdiction

Do the people of the United States really know what is involved in the so-called "right to vote" legislation now pending in Congress?

Do the officials of the governments of all the states know that hereafter, if the House or Senate bill becomes law, anyone deprived of a vote can make a federal court case out of it, with the help of the attorney general, no matter what restrictions on voting may hitherto have been enacted by the states?

It is doubtful whether the country as a whole knows what a Pandora's Box of troubles will be opened up by the proposed legislation when enforced in conjunction with old statutes.

It could really affect many more whites than Negroes and raise issues in all sections of the country.

Up to now the states themselves have exercised final judgment as to whom may or may not vote.

The federal government, henceforth would become the national policeman to supervise elections, whether for state or city or county offices.

ONE OF THE STATES that might immediately be investigated is Rhode Island, whose Supreme Court in a conscientious but mistaken opinion threw away the ballots of 5,454 absentee voters last November and changed the gubernatorial result from Republican to Democratic by a margin of 63 votes.

The Rhode Island court claimed it derived this authority from the constitution of that state but under the proposed "civil rights" legislation, state constitutions and state laws become subject to federal scrutiny, and the question of whether "equal protection of the laws" has been afforded or whether the "privileges and immunities of citizens" have been abridged will be something on which the federal courts would be asked to rule.

How, for example, can Rhode Island or any other states with absentee-voting laws permit certain persons to vote at any time in advance of election day if absent from home for reasons mentioned in a state law, while denying the opportunity to shut-ins and disabled individuals who cannot get to the polls or perhaps notarize a ballot on a particular day?

This is but one of many problems which now would become matters for federal supervision.

Thirty-four states—only five of them in the South—require an oath that the applicant is qualified to vote. Who shall say what is meant by "qualified"?

Seven states require loyalty oaths from prospective voters. Who shall say what constitutes "loyalty," especially in view of recent decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States that make such words as "subversive" or "Communist" a matter of "belief" protected by the First Amendment?

Forty-one states deny the right to vote to criminals. What offenses shall permanently disenfranchise a rehabilitated convict? Who will determine this? The courts may have to rule on this, too.

In 19 states—six in the South—citizens must pass literacy fair or unfair? This could provide an issue that would challenge officials in California, Connecticut, Delaware, Massachusetts, Maine, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, Oregon, Washington, Wyoming, Arizona, Georgia, Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, South Carolina, North Carolina and Oklahoma.

A federal court would have the right to tell those states whether or not their "tests" are proper.

In six states—Michigan, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Utah—citizens are required to own property to vote.

Is this discrimination that violates the Fourteenth Amendment, which provides that "no state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States"?

The federal courts would have to answer.

Most states have laws that provide for a particular period in residence before the voting privilege is granted. Is it fair to make a man lose his vote because he moves?

Can he be deprived of his citizenship rights so long as he remains within the United States?

THAT'S ANOTHER question which could be raised through the operations of the proposed law on "voting rights."

For the very title of some sections of existing law is to be changed by both the House and Senate bills to read "voting rights." It is evident that the whole problem will cease to be one that the states solely administer and now will become actively a question for federal jurisdiction.

Indeed, a majority in Congress could bestow on the federal government the sole right to determine all voting qualifications, and, using the same principle as in the Steve Nelson case, the Supreme Court could forbid the states to trespass at all in that field.

This is the possible scope of the pending bill. It tends definitely in the direction of abolishing the states and giving the centralized government in Washington complete control of functions hitherto believed to have been reserved to the states under the federal constitution.

Is This Research?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

There were criticisms of the Fund for the Republic some time ago for employing Earl Browder in some sort of study of communism.

Perhaps those criticisms were not justified. Browder at least knows something about the practical operations of the subject under study.

But it is not so easy to explain a study recently announced by Robert M. Hutchins, president of the Fund for the Republic.

This is designed to get at the "basic issues" of the effect of corporations and labor unions on freedom and civil liberty. For a glance at the "consultants" who, with Hutchins and other fund personnel, will direct the research reveals an astonishing absence of people who have ever had any experience with either corporations or unions. All except one are professors or college administrators.

Only one, Henry R. Luce, the editor-in-chief of Time, Life, and Fortune, has had to grasp the hot end of a payroll or deal with unions at the bargaining table. But his experience has not been in the industrial climate which conditions the problems with which this study purports to deal.

Certainly, I raise no eyebrows at academic people, for I served my time myself. But I did serve long enough to realize that professors and college administrators have prejudices just as keen as those of corporation managers and union leaders.

Back in 1935 I wondered what might happen in the U. S. Treasury, when Henry Morgenthau Jr. then Secretary, told me he could find no intellectual honesty for his jobs except among professors. Even then, he reposed childlike trust in Prof. Harry Dexter White. Hutchins, the most active will be Adolph A. Berle.

His writings have been anything but objective toward corporation problems. His obsession is the enactment of legislation for federal incorporation of companies doing interstate business, which would include about everything but the independent corner grocery store.

Berle, moreover was until last year chairman of the splinter Liberal party in New York, which has always been dominated by David Dubinsky of the Ladies Garment Workers.

Berle was a satellite of the late Fiorello La Guardia. How could objectivity be expected from him?

There is also Reinhold Niebuhr, the left wing vice president of Union Theological Seminary.

Thus, this strange, free-wheeling pot of Ford money will engage in another piece of slanted publicity under the name or research.

The exclusion of people experienced in running corporations and labor unions makes certain that the personal views of Hutchins will have no opposition.

Is it his belief, like that of Morgenthau, that neither honesty nor fairness can be found in management or the unions.

IGY Scientists Have Own Calendar

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Reporter
We are living under a special new world calendar.

It runs into January of 1959 and is studded with special days which could bring prizes of great new discoveries.

The calendar is that of the International Geophysical Year, the mammoth cooperative effort by 16,000 scientists of 61 nations to solve mysteries of the world we live in. IGY extends from July 1, 1957, to Dec. 31, 1958.

It finds scientists fanned out over oceans, mountains, plains, islands, the snows of the South Pole, and frozen reaches of the Arctic. With old and new instruments, they are making intensive studies of weather, the sun, cosmic rays, the ionosphere or electrified layer of air above us, magnetism, earthquakes, gravity, glaciers and oceans.

THE KEY TO IGY is cooperation. Scientists in one country can gain only a partial understanding of weather, or worldwide effects of cosmic rays, or changes in magnetism or other forces.

But by making nearly simultaneous observations around the world, and then sharing all they learn, they can in effect take world-wide "pictures" of the earth and the forces affecting our globe and our lives.

That is where the IGY calendar comes in.

It provides special dates for special, intensified studies. There are three ways of doing this.

One is through "regular world days," three to four each month, selected in advance. Some come at the new moon — a favorable time for observing the aurora or Northern or Southern Lights, the mysterious faint glow around the earth, and meteors. Others fall at times of unusual annual showers of meteors.

On world days, scientists will usually fire rockets which reach very high into the air to probe weather, temperature, ionosphere, and other phenomena.

TWO WORLD DAYS come at times of eclipses of the sun Oct. 23, 1957, and Oct. 12, 1958. Scientists of several nations will join in special observations of the eclipse paths.

Selected in advance, also, are 10-day World Meteorological Intervals. There are six coinciding with the seasons — fall, winter, spring and summer — during IGY. These will be times of special efforts to study weather and the upper atmosphere.

THIRDLY are unpredictable Special World Intervals, called when the sun bursts forth with tremendous flares or activity. These solar explosions have vast effects on the ionosphere, cosmic ray showers, magnetism, the aurora.

Scientists keeping steady watch on the sun will issue alerts when the sun undergoes unusual pyrotechnics. A world-wide warning system will flash word to scientists around the world for intensified studies until the sun goes back to more normal activity.

One Name's Enough

By TRUMAN TWILL

As the unproud possessor of a spare name that never has been taken out of the luggage compartment, I propose that this nonsense be discontinued.

Except for political introductions, when the laws of stuffed shirtery decree that three names must be roared full blast, the only time the extra monicker ever is heard of is in obituary notices.

Its only other use is to provide a third initial for monogrammed luggage, which turns out to be the source of an embarrassing word like BUG, HOT or PHT. It also makes work for tombstone letterers.

The only reason it is there at all, in most cases, is to soap up a near or distant relative reputed to have enough money stashed away to make life interesting for a namesake.

The practice of hanging on an extra monicker is un-American, moreover. It was invented by decadent Europeans whose bloodlines were so criss-crossed by inbreeding that a newborn's pedigree was stamped on him at birth for safety's sake.

In the careless hands of Americans, the name that was not going to be used in public turned into a thigh-slapping private joke. Doting mothers and fathers, with tongues in cheek and brains in pawn, made their kids hostages to the future by tagging them with beafts that must be kept from the light of day at any cost.

This has given rise to the popularity of initials for indicating where the other name would be if anyone dared use, or knew how to pronounce it. Can anyone forget what political spellbinds used to do with the Delano behind the D in Franklin D. Roosevelt? Or the way they used to bear down with their decibels popping on the in Thom-as E. Dewey?

Then there was that S. business with Harry Truman. The boys never knew whether it was plain Harry, or Harry S., or Harry Shippe, which was as bad as the trouble they used to have with another Democratic president—Thomas Woodrow Wilson, who would as soon have been called "Tom" as "Woody"—and consequently was called "Mr. Wilson."

With John L. Lewis, the problem was easier because the L stood for a Welsh name no one could spell and no one wanted to roll off the tongue—Llewellyn. So the matter never was mentioned.

That is the way it goes. Either the spare name is overdone, underdone, or avoided like the father of the groom at a wedding reception. The boys took one look at the Dwight David that went with Eisenhower and substituted Ike.

They popularized it, which was more than they ever dared to do with Bill Taft, who always was spoken for formally as William Howard, just as Chet Arthur always was referred to officially as Chester Alan.

These are the reasons why the spare name should be driven out.

We need to square things with custom. The only time Mom ever used both names was when she was getting ready to apply the rod to keep from spoiling the child.

The only reason anyone uses them is to put a better light on something than sunlight provides. One name and whatever abbreviation goes with it is enough. Hiram Ulysses Grant switched his name to Ulysses Hiram Grant to get rid of the initials HUG, then dumped Hiram in favor of Simpson because his congressman had entered him under that erroneous tag at West Point. It's a pity he wasn't christened just plain "Gus."

Let us dump that extra name and get rid of the trouble it causes. For a start, here is the Obadiah that would turn Truman Twill into TOT.

So They Say

It is true to some extent (that Russian Jews can't leave Russia).—Soviet Communist party boss Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Meany (George Meany, AFL-CIO president) is not a member of the Teamsters Union and has no vote in our convention. —Teamsters Vice President James Hoffa, on whether Meany would accept him as Teamsters president.

This boy (Stephen Gergich, 19) is sick. He needs treatment. —Passaic, N.Y., Magistrate Charles Breslow, of youth who police say kissed women burglary victims.

I don't know why on God's green earth someone wants to kill me. —Huntington, W. Va., Mayor Eugene Willis, after exchanging shots with would-be assassin.

They should let the man (Airman Donald Wheeler) get the kind of haircut he wants, so long as it is neat and trim. —Rep. Clyde Doyle (D-Calif.) on freeing of Wheeler after courtmartial.

Barbs

A gal has her choice—go to the mountains and see the scenery, or to the beach and be the scenery.

The average man wears a 7½ size hat unless he happens to be the average man and goes bareheaded.

The surest fountain of youth during the real hot days is the good old garden hose.

There is real pigskin in lots of shoes and it's no wonder our dogs squeal during the hot days.

Thought For Today

Ye shall keep the sabbath therefore; for it is holy unto you: every one that defileth it shall surely be put to death; for whosoever doeth any work therein, that soul shall be cut off from among his people. —Exodus 31:14.

Letters for Special Delivery

Dear President Eisenhower: "If that man who knows so much about my business will offer me a million for what I have he will make a sale in a hurry," you said gingerly the other day when asked about a newspaper story that you are worth a million dollars.

You are a very frank man and mean what you say but are you not going too far in this? As a matter of fact would the sale include the putter with which you have been sinking some long ones on the golf course lately?

My putting-green scouts tell me you were distinctly heard to say, after a 12-footer went into the cup at Burning Tree, "Boy, I wouldn't take a million for THAT CLUB."

YOU CAN NEVER TELL how seriously a press conference statement will be taken and I think you should announce at once that your promise of a sale in a hurry of all you own for a million does not include this putting iron and the following other items:

1. The niblick that has been getting you out of those sandtraps.
2. Your copy of the Ben Hogan book which has been helping you on approachs.
3. Those golf shoes that you have just succeeded in breaking in to a point where they don't hurt after nine holes.
4. The indigestion tablets you carry just in case you ever again make the mistake of eating a hamburger with onion during a golf match.

I WILL ALSO BET you would not take a million for the picture window from which you get a wonderful view of the Gettysburg landscape after tough days in Washington, the last calf born on your farm, your pet bird dog down there or for Jim Hagerty, your able secretary. So don't be so hasty with such statements.

IN THE PRESS CONFERENCE you were pretty nettled by those queries about a chain dress store operator nominated ambassador to Ceylon and maybe you can get a laugh out of the old Follies sketch played by Hermione Gingold and Billy DeWolfe.

In it two elderly maiden ladies, strangers to each other, awkwardly strike up a conversation on a British train and one, a rather aloof old gal, says she is bound home to Ceylon. The other says, "I have a sister in Ceylon."

This tends to break the ice and the first woman offers the other some wine from her handbag.

The pair get pretty well fried and quarrel-some. The second old gal says, "I want to tell you something; I haven't any sister in Ceylon." And the other snaps "That's all right, there's no such place as Ceylon."

Not very funny? Well, it was a wow in the follies.

With all good wishes,

Mrs. Wilson Says Husband Deserves Rest

PETOSKEY, Mich. (AP) — Mrs. Jessie Ann Wilson, who married her husband when he was an $80 a month electrical engineer and accompanied him on his long climb to success, says she is happy Charles E. Wilson is retiring as defense secretary.

"The news looks good," Mrs. Wilson said at the family's summer cottage at Wallon Lake near here. "After all, Mr. Wilson is 67. He has earned a rest."

Mrs. Wilson said she was a bit concerned over the possibility that her husband's retirement may be delayed by a Senate probe of his successor.

President Eisenhower has nominated Procter & Gamble Soap Co. President Neil H. McElroy to replace Wilson in the cabinet lineup.

As to the possibility of a long Senate investigation of McElroy, Mrs. Wilson said "how futile it all seems. Mr. McElroy is a splendid person, fine and upright, and willing to serve the nation in a vital job. Perhaps his company does sell some soap to the government, but I understand it's a trivial contract."

Mrs. Wilson, who said "I've always made it a point to remain in the background" when her husband was named defense secretary, said neither she nor her husband ever regretted his leaving the presidency of the huge General Motors Corp. to serve his country.

"Mr. Wilson, of course, was a complete novelty in Washington," she said. "He spoke simple truths in a place where politics is more generally the native tongue. He came as a great shock."

Mrs. Wilson emerged from the background only once—and then to defend her husband.

When President Eisenhower criticized Wilson for making his famous draft-dodging remark in connection with the National Guard, Mrs. Wilson leaped to her husband's defense.

The latter, after a long period of convalescence, is now taking time out from his work in Japan to study for a doctorate in economics at Fordham University.

New York Enjoys Holiday From Crime

NEW YORK (AP)—New York City is enjoying a holiday from youth crime as more than 500 student policemen do night patrol in 25 so-called "hazardous" precincts and the regular 23,000-man force remains on a special alert against teen-age violence.

Only relatively minor teen-age arrests have been made since the rookies from the police academy were sent out on the streets Tuesday night to help combat the recent wave of teen-age crime.

Acting Police Commissioner James R. Kennedy warned Wednesday, however, that "it is too early and too soon to evaluate the effectiveness of the assignment of the rookie policemen to patrol duty."

Fleeing Monkey Fires Ball Back at Police

NORTH WALES, Pa. (AP)—Hoping to scare a monkey down from a tree, Police Chief Benjamin Cairns of Upper Gwynedd Township, threw a baseball at him.

The monkey, however, made a perfect catch and fired the ball back. Chief Cairns says he was too surprised to grab the return toss. The monkey escaped.

He was one of 49 Rhesus monkeys who got loose from a research laboratory here Tuesday. Eleven are still at large.

Advices Church Also to Serve Physical Needs

SPRINGFIELD, Ohio (AP) — To fulfill its service to man, the church must enter into social, cultural and political situations, Dr. Anders Nygren, bishop of Lund, Sweden, and first president of the Lutheran World Federation declared here today.

Even in the modern welfare state, Bishop Nygren said in a prepared address, the church must never feel that it has been relieved of the task of serving people in their physical as well as in their spiritual needs.

"The whole life of Christ was nothing but service," Bishop Nygren declared. "To live a Christian life means to accept Christ's service and to pass it on to others. It is utterly impossible to accept the service of Christ and to keep to oneself only."

Dr. Nygren spoke at the second day sessions of the four-day Lutheran World Conference on Social Responsibility being held at Wittenberg College.

Dr. Jozef Szabo, Balassagyarmat, Hungary, bishop of the Evan## gelical Church of Hungary, told the delegates attending the conference that the gift of the spirit is not given to man for his selfish profit.

"It is given to the profit of the other man," he declared, "to the profit of the neighbor, to the profit of our fellow man."

Key Fits Wrong Auto, Man Drives It Away

DETROIT (AP)—The odds against a key to one car fitting another are roughly 600-to-1, but Charles Wood beat the odds.

Wood borrowed his brother-in-law's car and parked it in a lot. When he returned it brother-in-law Richard Maser said "that's not my car." The auto was of the same make and year as Maser's but differently colored.

The brothers-in-law went to police who turned them over to Mary Gadowski. It turned out that Miss Gadowski had parked her car in the same lot as Wood. The key to her car was a duplicate of the one to Maser's car.

Ex-Dem Chairman Faces 3 Charges

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP) — Former state Democratic Chairman Arthur Limbach, 62, has posted $500 bond for appearance next week on charges of driving an automobile while his license was suspended, failing to surrender the suspended license, and making false statements in applying for renewal of the license.

The state highway patrol filed the charges against Limbach with Prosecutor Wilford Miller of Tuscarawas County. Limbach was convicted of driving while under the influence of an intoxicating beverage on Oct. 22, 1955. He was arrested on a similar charge July 13 and forfeited $125 bond by failing to appear at a hearing July 15.

An attorney here, Limbach was a judge advocate for the war crimes trials in Germany after World War II.

McElroy Salary Now $235,000

Would Get $25,000 As Defense Chief

CINCINNATI (AP)—Neil McElroy gets $235,000 a year for bossing 30,000 employees of Procter & Gamble Co., of which he is president. They are scattered all over the world.

And, if he wins Senate approval as President Eisenhower's nominee to succeed Charles E. Wilson as secretary of defense, he'll be getting $25,000 a year as "boss" of perhaps 4,000,000, similarly scattered.

"We've been told that there are approximately 4,000,000 employees of the Department of Defense, including members of the Armed Services," said O.M. Gale, head of P&G's Department of Public Relations, and a 20-year associate of McElroy's.

Has Fine Public Service Record

But the sacrifice, both of salary and a sizable sum in Procter & Gamble stock and other holdings, is strictly in character, Gale and other close friends said, of a man who over many years has devoted at least one third of his time to voluntary public service. McElroy Wednesday termed his nomination as "an opportunity to serve . . . in the area of being a good citizen."

Several years ago, after Cincinnati's Community Chest had failed four times in succession to attain its multi-million dollar goal, McElroy was approached to take over chairmanship for the next drive.

"I don't like to be associated with failure," he bluntly told a committee-in-waiting. "If I take this assignment, we'll make it go."

And "make it go" he did. The charity-and-welfare drive was generously oversubscribed and has gone over the top ever since, even though McElroy, with his close friend, Joseph B. Hall, president of the Kroger Grocery & Baking Co., as co-chairman, served only the one year.

Has Many Talents

Of McElroy's many talents—they range from music to business administration—there are two, close associates say, that are most likely to carry him furthest in his proffered cabinet post: His "organization genius" and "an instinctive ability to strike people in the right way."

"One is hardly secondary to the other," commented a long-time associate. "He's a genius in both fields."

not to act finally in this session.

All GOP Members For It

No Republican senators voted against passage of the bill when the roll was called Wednesday night after nearly five weeks of debate. The 18 Democrats who voted against it were all Southerners except for Sen. Morse of Oregon.

Morse said he could not bring himself to vote "for a civil rights bill which bears little more than the title." Calling it an "odorous corpse," he said it "raises hopes and expectations which will not be satisfied."

Five senators from Southern states, all Democrats, voted for passage. They were Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Senate Democratic leader; Yarborough of Texas; Kefauver and Gore of Tennessee; and Smathers of Florida.

29 Democrats Back Bill

In all, 43 Republicans and 29 Democrats voted for passage. As it passed the Senate, the bill would authorize the attorney general to seek court injunctions to enforce minority voting rights.

The House had voted for similar authority also to enforce civil rights in general but the Senate knocked this out of the measure.

The House rejected all proposals for jury trials. The Senate wrote into the bill a far-reaching provision for jury trials in any federal court criminal contempt case involving issuance of an injunction.

Eisenhower said this would be "most damaging to the entire federal judiciary."

Criminal contempt generally arises from the desire of the judge to punish a defendant for disobeying a court order or for such delay in complying with it that the order becomes ineffective.

The Senate provided that juries in such cases must be open to the inclusion of Negro members.

Commission Provided For

Both bills provide for establishment of a bipartisan commission to investigate civil rights and for appointment of an additional assistant attorney general to head a new civil rights division in the Justice Department.

Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn of Texas was reported trying to line up sufficient votes for House acceptance of the Senate's version of the bill. Some Democrats thought an Eisenhower veto would hurt the Republicans politically.

However, Rep. Celler (D-NY), leader of the forces which pushed the original bill through the House, said he thinks the House and Senate "would accept a modified bill limiting the jury trial amendment to civil rights cases only."

He predicted both houses would accept such an amendment. Knowledge indicated it would be acceptable to him. But he said he doesn't know whether Eisenhower would be satisfied with only that change in the measure.

Rep. Keating of New York, ranking Republican among the prospective House conferees, said in a statement he will "make every effort to restore to the bill some of its original vitality."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the Southern forces, told newsmen after the final vote he would be "delighted" if President Eisenhower would veto the bill and "hoped and prayed" he would do so. But he added he did not expect the President to veto it.

Asked if he believed Congress now would pass the bill in some form, Russell said he did. "I'm a realist," he said, noting that the measure now had passed both branches by "substantial margins."

Hayhanen was described as a trained Red espionage agent who spent six years in the United States. After his return to Europe, he was said to have sought haven in the West. He was flown to New York for the grand jury hearing, where he was indicted—government agents found maps of Baltimore, Chicago, New York, Long Island and other places. # Civil Rights Fight Is in Critical Stage; Negroes Are Ahead So Far

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—So far Negroes are the winners, Southerners the losers in the civil rights fight. The battle isn't over. It's reaching its critical stage. This is an ABC on the fight and what lies ahead.

The bill passed by the House June 18 was a victory for Negroes, a defeat for the South. The Senate Wednesday night passed a toned-down version of the House bill. This too, was a Negro victory. Southerners could claim satisfaction from toning it down.

But there will be no civil rights law at all—which would be complete defeat for Negroes, complete victory for the South—unless the House and Senate compromise on a single bill which President Eisenhower is willing to sign.

Won't Accept Whole Bill
The House is unlikely to accept the Senate bill completely. If it does, Eisenhower will probably veto the bill because of a jury trial requirement he says would be "most damaging to the entire federal judiciary."

No one expects the House to insist on its own bill completely. If it did, there would be no civil rights law this year. The Senate is certain to reject anything like that. The question is: How much compromise by both houses?

Both houses agree on this much in their two bills:

Creation of a two-year commission, with power to subpoena witnesses, to study civil rights problems; and creation of a new civil rights division in the Justice Department with a new assistant attorney general to run it.

Negroes consider this a gain since the commission would have broad powers to examine discrimination and civil rights violations and report on them.

Houses Differ on 2 Points
This is where House and Senate bills differ:

1. The House would let the attorney general, in addition to voting rights cases, move into all kinds of civil rights violations. For example: School segregation. The Senate threw this out altogether.

If the House insisted on retaining this provision—it's unlikely too—the Senate almost certainly would refuse. The result: No agreed-on bill and therefore no new law.

2. The House and Senate would both let the attorney general step in when voting rights were violated and ask a federal judge to order the violations stopped. This is more protection than Negroes have obtained from Congress in this century. But—

Under the House bill anyone disobeying such a court order could be tried by a judge, without a jury, and jailed for civil contempt or criminal contempt. For civil contempt he'd be jailed only until he complied. Under criminal contempt he'd get a flat jail sentence as punishment after it was too late to comply.

The Senate agreed to the first part of that: It would let a judge by himself try and jail a man for civil contempt. But for criminal contempt the Senate insisted a man must be given a jury trial.

Ike's Objection Given
But the Senate went far beyond voting rights cases. It said anyone charged with criminal contempt in any kind of case in federal courts must be tried by a jury. This is the part Eisenhower particularly objects to.

It would reduce the power federal judges have now to back up their orders by personally trying anyone charged with criminal contempt for disobeying their orders. But the Senate bill goes even further.

It would affect every government regulatory agency—like the National Labor Relations Board, the Federal Communications Commission and many others—which depend on court orders to back up its rulings.

Will There Be Compromise?
The real question of compromise between House and Senate seems to be right there: Will the Senate agree to drop the provision on jury trials for all criminal contempt cases?

Or would it insist on retaining jury trials at least for criminal contempt cases in voting rights cases? Also would the House accept jury trials in voting rights cases?

And one more question: If House and Senate agreed there should be jury trials for criminal contempt only in trying rights cases, would Eisenhower sign the bill?

He had said he didn't want this provision in the bill.

But if either bill became law—no matter what happened to federal judges' power or the operations of government regulatory agencies—it would be a victory for Negroes.

The attorney general could still step in to help them and the judge would still have a lot of power under civil contempt charges to make individuals and communities think twice before interfering with Negroes' voting rights.

Mahoning to Have 3 District Judges

A county court will be inaugurated within the five township districts encompassing Berlin, Ellsworth, Goshen, Green and Smith, with possibly Beloit or Sebring becoming the headquarters.

The Mahoning County commissioners gave official approval recently to the system of a four-judge court for the county previously recommended by the Mahoning County Bar Association and the five Mahoning County common pleas judges.

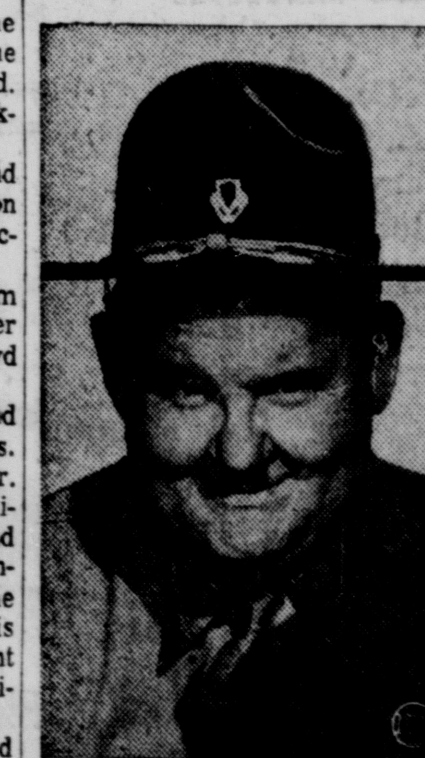

Judges will decide where the courts will be located following the November election. County commissioners are studying possible county sites, the results of which will be turned over to the judges for consideration.

Three county court judges, to replace justices of the peace, were originally planned for but because of the physical size and population of the county the fourth judgeship was added. The law provides for an additional county judge for every 20,000 population in counties through which the Ohio Turnpike passes.

National Farm Organization Formed to Boost Agriculture

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new national farm group has entered the agricultural program promotion field.

It is a conference of 36 specialized farm commodity organizations formed at a two-day closed meeting which ended here Wednesday. Operating independently in the past, they decided to join hands in an attempt to get what they called improved federal farm aid measures.

This decision to work together was made, a spokesman said, because of a sharp division of views among present general farm organizations and members of Congress over Eisenhower administration agricultural policies and over substitute proposals.

The conference will hold another meeting here Sept. 25-26 to go over individual commodity program plans expected to be developed in the meantime by an arrangements committee.

A final meeting to put the proposals into shape for presentation to Congress next year will be held some time in December. The spokesman said there is no present intention of making the conference a permanent organization to compete with the big national organizations.

In the meantime, the four major farm organizations will hold annual conventions to draft platforms and policy statements, also for Congress. These organizations include the American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Farmers Union, the National Grange and the National Council of Farmer Cooperatives.

Before adjourning Wednesday, the conference agreed on two things—that there is need for more rigid restrictions on imports of competitive farm products and that a better standard is needed for measuring fair farm prices as they relate to prices charged farmers.

E. M. Norton of Washington, secretary of the National Milk Producers Federation, was named chairman of the conference arrangements committee. It was largely through his efforts that the specialized farm groups got together.

WASHINGTON (AP)—A move has been started in Congress to help open up big eastern city milk markets to midwestern dairymen.

It seeks congressional enactment of a uniform national sanitation standards act for fluid milk. Such standards would apply uniformly throughout the United States to all fluid milk shipped in interstate commerce.

At the present time, various standards are set up by city and other local governments. Some standards are set up by city and other local governments. Some standards and regulations have the effect of barring all fluid milk except that produced within a local area.

Midwestern dairymen long have complained that these local milk ordinances keep them out of the urban markets and force them to sell high quality milk at lower prices for processing into butter, cheese, dried milk and other manufactured dairy products.

A bill to provide a uniform standard along the lines recommended by the U.S. Public Health Service has been introduced in the Senate by Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.). He and other advocates say they hope to get it passed next year.

Texas Firm Sues Bus Maker for $5 Million

DALLAS (AP)—An Ohio bus manufacturer, the Flexible Co. of Loudonville, has been sued for $5,778,578 by a Texas transit system for allegedly faulty operation of 111 two-level type buses purchased from the firm.

The Transcontinental Bus System and its six affiliated companies in a suit filed Wednesday alleges the buses purchased in 1955 at a cost of $32,000 each immediately began to break down. Transcontinental said this resulted in a million dollar loss in passenger revenues as well as losses from failure of the buses to operate 35 per cent of their assigned mileage.

Boy Tries to Cheat Subway, Gets Stuck

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A 14-year-old south Philadelphia boy says he will never try to cheat the subway again.

Edward Radley tried to avoid paying a fare Wednesday by attempting to enter through an "exit only" turnstile. He squeezed his body into the narrow space between the sides of the turnstile and its bars, then discovered his head wouldn't go through. But by this time he was wedged so tightly he couldn't move either way.

Patrolman Paul Marchese rescued the boy by loosening bolts on the turnstile bars. "I'll pay my fare from now on," promised young Radley.

REPORTS $25,000 BONDS THEFT

Leetonia Women Operate Own Potteries

Ceramic Hobby Grows Into Real Venture

By ELEANOR COPPERSMITH

LEETONIA — Two Leetonia women have turned a passive interest in ceramics into a profitable venture.

Seven years ago Mrs. Ralph Kennedy and Mrs. Arthur Spatholt enrolled in ceramic classes at the YWCA in Youngstown, and today they operate pottery kilns in the basements of their homes.

Mrs. Kennedy's avocation has grown into a vocation with classes being conducted daily in her studio. At the present time there are 50 persons in her classes, including five men. One couple from Pennsylvania travels 180 miles, round trip, to attend classes.

Among her pottery equipment are five kilns and several hundred molds. Mr. Kennedy often assists his wife with the casting.

ARTICLES IN CERAMIC, porcelain, lace and fabric draping and porcelain wedgewood are included in her catalogue. Several students have created their own dinnerware.

Mrs. Kennedy has patented pretzel and potato chip jewelry which is sold throughout the United States, and all countries of the world, except Russia. Also original in design are her anniversary plates.

Orders have been placed by many well known companies for jewelry designed with the company's products, for gifts to their employees.

Her students range in age from 10 through 77 years. Last year the fifth grade class of the local elementary school received lessons from Mrs. Kennedy. Assisting her with the teaching duties are Miss Bernice Gaughan and Mrs. Merle Reese.

Last April, Charles West of California, top artist for Shasha Brastof, well-known ceramist, visited at the Kennedy studio.

Despite having lost all equipment and supplies a year ago due to 39 inches of water in the basement of her home, Mrs. Kennedy has completely replenished her supplies.

TO DATE 473 PERSONS have participated in classes under the instruction of Mrs. Spatholt. Of this number, ten were men. Fourteen of her students have attended classes for five years.

Mrs. Spatholt has furthered her knowledge in ceramics by studying in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., El Paso, Tex., and California. Each year when the Spatholts are vacationing, she searches for instructors to learn new techniques in the field of ceramics.

In addition to her complete line of ceramic and porcelain articles, Mrs. Spatholt has added copper enameling and cloysanay work. Free hand designs are a specialty of her handiwork.

Included in her array of many figurines, is a 21-piece Nativity scene which she says requires the most working hours.

In its infancy at the Spatholt studio are personalized "coffee break" cups and saucers.

Mrs. Spatholt's granddaughter, Denise Varner, 7, was her youngest student; the oldest, one being 73 years old.

Mrs. LaVerne Calvin assists Mrs. Spatholt with her work.

A number of the students taught by Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Spatholt now operate their own kilns.

Bryson Pitches No-Hitter As Eljer Blanks Bliss 4-0

Furnace Beaten 6-4 by Jets

Kenmar, Homeworth, Purity Score Wins

Gerry Bryson pitched a no-hitter as Eljer beat Bliss 4-0 last night at Kelley Park.

The Jets edged Electric Furnace 6-4 and Kenmar defeated Heron 3-1 in other games played at the same park.

Homeworth clipped Sekely 8-2 in a game played last night at Centennial Park. Purity won on a forfeit from Fisher's.

Bryson missed a near-perfect game by walking four men and hitting another with a bad pitch.

Eljer got a run in the first inning as Parish hit safely and came home on Walt Miller's long fly ball. In the second canto, the winners pushed across two more markers.

With two men out, Tom Dickey smashed a sharp hit to center. Then in the fourth with the bases loaded, Eljer scored the final tally of the game, as Bryson was walked, forcing in the run.

The Jets-Furnace battle saw the Jets take a 4-0 lead, which dwindled into a 4-4 tie. The Jets came on to score in the sixth and seventh frames to overcome their opponents' efforts.

The Jets built up a four-run bulge in the fifth as two walks, two errors, and Detell's hit brought in three runs. Previous to this inning, the Jets had tallied one marker.

In the bottom of the fourth, the Furnace rallied as Galbreath doubled, Zeigler and Roher hit safely. The Jets also made three miscues afield, and the ball game was deadlocked.

Don Fife picked up the win, while Jim Smith lost.

Kenmar picked up two runs in the second inning as Reesh walked and scored as Munyon's blooper fell safely and Roherin threw into the stands trying for Reesh at third.

Munyon moved to third and scored on Huda's fly ball. A walk to Esterly and Hughes triple made it 3-0 in the fifth frame.

Heron struck back in the sixth as Schuster and Warner both singled. Walks to Kline and Ball followed, bringing in the losers' only marker.

Spear and Shoff combined for the win as Heron's left eight runners stranded on the bases. Leo Kline was the losing pitcher.

Sekely's showed surprising opposition last night, and it was timely hitting coupled with a few Sekely errors that garnered the Homeworth team its victory in the only girls contest played last night.

Gold Worthy is 5-2 Favorite at Grandview

CLEVELAND (AP) — Ten pacers who together have earned nearly $1,400,000 go to the post tonight in the $21,000 Grandview Pacing Derby with Gold Worthy a 5-2 favorite.

The 4-year-old Gold Worthy set the record for Grandview's half mile oval by pacing the mile in one minute, 59 2-5 seconds. In another of six races he won in the current meeting, he was clocked at :01:59 4-5. Wayne (Curly) Smart of Delaware will drive Gold Worthy, who is owned by Dr. A.B. Thompson of Pulaski, N. Y.

Adios Harry, 6-year-old who won both heats of the 1956 Grandview Pacing Derby, was a 3-1 pre-race selection, but the odds may go higher by tonight. In four races here this year Adios has been second twice, fourth and fifth. He will be driven by Luther Lyons, son of the owner, J. Howard Lyons. With a mile mark of one minute, 55 seconds on Vernon Downs -mile track, Adios Harry holds the world record for pacing speed, and a victory tonight would make him the biggest money-winner of all time.

John Melton, Freshman backfield coach at Wyoming, also coaches the Cowboy track and cross-country teams.

MONEY MEN—The professional football players are back in training. Tobin Rote, left, was traded to the Detroit Lions. Rick Casares, center, of the Chicago Bears was the National League's leading ground-gainer last season. Rams' Jon Arnett could be recruit-of-the-year.

Southpaw Hoeft Strikes Out 10 As Detroit Downs Cleveland 4-1

House Group To Wind Up Sports Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House antitrust subcommittee hoped to wind up its hearings today on the business status of professional sports with testimony from spokesmen for hockey.

Listed as chief witness was Clarence S. Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

So far, the subcommittee has heard from officials and players in baseball, football, and basketball.

The Supreme Court has held that the federal antitrust statutes do not apply to baseball, but that they do cover pro football. The subcommittee is considering legislation to spell out the status of all pro sports in relation to the antitrust laws.

Wednesday, Maurice Podoloff, president of the National Basketball Assn., describing himself as the NBA's "chief cook and bottle washer"—aroused some subcommittee members when he made disparaging remarks about some lawyers taking a hand in basketball negotiations with players. All the subcommittee members are lawyers.

Podoloff, himself a lawyer, said he favored a players' association if it didn't have what he called a "foreign element." He said that when he meets with players he doesn't want "a flannel mouth . . . I don't want a rabble rouser" taking part. Podoloff said he had seen many lawyers "louse up deals."

This brought from Rep. Keating (R-NY) a comment that "not all of us lawyers are flannel mouths." Rep. Rodino (D-NJ) termed Podoloff's remarks "quite a reflection on the bar."

Tighe is Not To Be Fired, Says McHale

DETROIT (AP) — Scattered rumors that Jack Tighe is about to be fired as manager of the Detroit Tigers are "the products of somebody's wild imagination," General Manager John J. McHale said today.

"We've heard the rumors, too," said McHale, "but there's absolutely nothing to them. Every time a club is going badly these reports crop up."

Reports that the Tiger front office is dissatisfied with the rookie skipper have been circulating on and off for about a month. Not long ago there was a published report that Tighe soon would be replaced by Joe Gordon, former Cleveland and New York second baseman and a Tiger coach for part of the 1956 season.

Tighe, whose Tigers have failed to live up to pre-season expectations, said he, too, had heard the reports and added: "It doesn't surprise me. When you're having a bad year things like this happen."

McHale said he feels Tighe "has done a good job. A manager can't go out there and hit and pitch—he can only do so much. As far as I know, everyone in the organization is satisfied with the kind of job Jack has given the club."

Tighe, who succeeded Bucky Harris last year, has a one-year contract.

A source high up in the organization who asked not to be identified said he believes the board of directors will announce shortly that Tighe is being awarded a contract for the 1958 season.

Eddie Machen, Redding, Calif., heavyweight, played football and basketball in high school.

Wynn's Chances to be 20-Game Winner Nose-Dive

DETROIT (AP) — The Cleveland Indians and their longest road trip of the season here today needing a victory to return home in fourth place.

The Detroit Tigers' 4-1 victory evened the series at a game apiece Wednesday. The two clubs also stand all-even at seven games each for the season.

Southpaw Billy Hoeft struck out 10, scattered six singles and gave only one pass in winning his fourth against six defeats and ending the Tigers' four-game string of losses.

The Indians had only one hit until the seventh when Gene Woodling led off with a single, went to third on Vic Wertz's single and scored on Al Smith's liner to centerfield.

Singles by Wertz and Rocky Colavito and a hit batsman loaded the bases with two out in the ninth, but Hoeft fanned Russ Nixon, who batted for Jim Hegan after Hegan had fouled one pitch. Early Wynn was to have started for Cleveland, but the 37-year-old knuckleballer turned up with a pain in his right arm which the Detroit club physician diagnosed as gout. Wynn has recurrent trouble with this ailment and now must go on a rigid diet.

"When he tells me he can pitch, he will pitch," Manager Kerby Farrell said. Since the All-Star game a month ago, Wynn has a 2-2 mark to show for six games, and his chances of being a 20-game winner for the fifth time in seven seasons have nose-dived.

John Gray started on the mound for the Tribe Wednesday and the Tigers plastered him for three runs in the first inning. Centerfielder Al Smith misplayed Jim Small's hit after Bill Tuttle had walked, and it went for a double. Then Smith misjudged a fly by Ray Boone which sailed over his head for a two-run double. Al Kline scored Boone with a single.

After Frank Bolling walked with only one out, Gray was lifted for Cal McLish who yielded the final Tiger run in the second inning. Hoeft doubled and scored on Tuttle's single which Smith juggled in short center.

Spider Webb Wins Decision Over Joseph

CHICAGO (AP) — Spider Webb, who took his revenge bout from Charley Joseph, says he's ready for all comers in the middleweight bracket "including Gene Fullmer and Joey Giambra."

Webb, the No. 6 ranked middleweight, was fortunate to gain a split decision Wednesday night from Joseph in a Chicago Stadium battle.

The Chicagoan scored heavily in a hot seventh round to even matters with Joseph, who whipped Webb in New Orleans two months ago.

After the fight, Webb had nothing but praise for his opponent, the No. 8 ranked middleweight from New Orleans.

"That was one of my hardest fights," said Webb, who now has a 23 and 2 record. "Joseph is one of the smartest fighters I ever met."

"After that tough fight, I feel that I'm ready for anyone in the middleweight class and that includes Fullmer and Giambra," Webb added.

"Sugar Ray Robinson says that I've got the potential to be the champ in the division. I'm going to try to back his statement."

Asked if he was hurt by Webb's flurry of punches in the seventh round, Joseph said no. "I'd like to meet him again," said Joseph, who now has a 40-6-1 career mark.

Elyria Draws Bye In Legion Tourney

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bentley and Lancaster, each victorious three straight times, meet today in the annual Ohio American Legion junior baseball tournament.

Cincinnati Bentley, the defending champion, scored its latest win Wednesday over Warren, 17-6.

Other morning games today pit Newark against Celina and Akron against Warren. All four have been beaten once in the double elimination tourney.

Lancaster defeated Elyria, 14-13, in the other game Wednesday afternoon. Elyria drew a bye in this morning's pairings.

A bases loaded homer by Bob Davis, three other hits, a hit batsman and two walks gave Warren a 5-0 lead in Wednesday afternoon's game, but Cincinnati pulled ahead in the fourth. Scott Seger got four hits for the winners in a game that featured three double plays by Cincinnati.

In the other contest, Lancaster's Ed Spangler homered in the fourth with one on and had three hits to pace the winners. Ken Leohner also smacked three hits for Lancaster.

Cincinnati previously defeated Cleveland 15-0 and downed Bridgeport 12-3. Lancaster's other wins were a 13-7 victory over Bridgeport and a 13-0 victory over Celina.

Czech Discus Champ Tries for AAU Title

CLEVELAND (AP) — Olga Fikotova Connolly, the Czech woman discus champion who married an American hammer-thrower, gets her first shot at the American outdoor AAU Women's championship here this weekend.

She will compete Saturday against Earline Brown of California, holder of the American discus record.

About 150 women athletes are entered in the annual outdoor meet at suburban Shaker High School. Girls 14 to 17 compete Friday, followed on Saturday by the open division, with finals scheduled for 7 p.m., E.D.T.

Frances T. Kaszubski of Cleveland, former discus champion who is chairman of women's track and field for the AAU, said she will be watching three young stars.

They are 17-year-old Rose Cammisse of Batavia, N. Y., Canadian 100-yard champion at 11 flat; 16-year-old Marcia Cosgrove of Renton, Wash., holder of four far western dash records, and Wilma Rudolph of Tennessee State, who set a record of 24.2 in winning the 220 at last year's olympic trials.

Dodgers Newcombe Was Spitting Mad

BROOKLYN (AP) — The Dodgers' Don Newcombe was mad enough to spit today. But did he expectorate at the crowd in Jersey City Wednesday night?

Press box occupants at the Brooklyn-New York Giant game thought they caught a spitting gesture directed at the booing, hooting crowd as the star pitcher trudged off the field after another ninth-inning blowup. Ever since Big Newk blew up in the World Series last fall the writers have watched every move of the controversial righthander.

Asked about it later, a fuming Newcombe snapped: "Maybe I did, maybe I didn't. I was too damn mad to remember."

Newcombe's anger was twofold. Three outs from shaking a slump that has kept him winless in nearly a month, Newk was blasted for a three-run pinch homer by the Giants' Hank Sauer that wiped out a 5-3 Brooklyn lead and led to an 8-5 Giant victory.

"Why do they (Jersey City fans) always boo me?" Newcombe asked bitterly. "I'm the only Jersey-born player on the Brooklyn club. I don't care if I never pitch there again."

It was Newk's 10th loss—most for him in a season since 1950.

Since 1950, when Michigan State became a member of the Western Conference, Spartan teams have won eight league titles and shared two others in the Big Ten.

Fourth Place Cincinnati Commits Two Errors In 12-2 Defeat By Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Cincinnati's Redlegs, he it noted, currently seem out to prove that they are the best friends Milwaukee's pennant-minded Braves ever had.

Making it two-in-a-row on the home lot—County Stadium—Fred Haney's hopefuls poured it on the Reds 12-2 Wednesday night, helped in the three-run third by two Cincinnati errors—and this from a team boasting the best defensive record in the National League.

The defeat dropped the fourth place Reds six games behind top-flying Milwaukee.

It was the tenth victory of the season for the Braves over their Ohio river-city cousins, who have won only two.

Pitching is the commodity that Manager Birdie Tebbetts never has had too much of. For the 80th time in 106 games, he had to wig-wag to his bullpen for help Wednesday night. Brooks Lawrence started, but thereafter, four other hapless flingers seemed able only to add fuel to the flame. In all, Lawrence, Hershel Freeman, Tom Akker and Johnny Klippstein, served up 15 hits of assorted sizes, plus five bases on balls, two hit batsmen and a wild pitch. Only Don Gross, called upon after Lawrence failed to retire a batter in the third, escaped the sting of Braves bats.

Wes Covington, Milwaukee left fielder, paced the Braves' attack with a pair of home runs. In all, Covington batted in four tallies, and scored four times—just a notch ahead, for purposes of the record-book, of his teammate Red Schoendienst, who had three hits and three RBIs.

With this smashing support, starter Gene Conley went the route, handing out only seven hits.

Little Ted Meets Big Ted Williams

BALTIMORE (AP)—Oscar (Dipper) Abbott, a Boston Red Sox rooster in general and a Ted Williams booster in particular, once hoped his son would be a baseball player—sort of a chip of the Splendid Splinter.

When the youngster was born seven years ago, he was named Ted Williams Abbott.

But not much later Abbott, of Deals Island, Md., got some bad news. Little Ted had a heart deformity and an operation was his only chance—a slim one.

Ed Nichols, sports editor of the Times at nearby Salisbury learned about all this and went into action. So little Ted, scheduled for operation next month, met big Ted Wednesday night.

The fabulous Boston Red Sox outfielder greeted him in the dugout before the game with the Baltimore Orioles, took him in and introduced him to his teammates and Manager Mike Higgins. The pair had a sort of man-to-man conversation, much of it spoken too softly for bystanders to hear.

It was Schoendienst who initiated the scoring, getting to Lawrence in the first for a single. Cincinnati's second run, in the sixth, came on a pinch-hit single by Ted Kluszewski after Don Hoak had walked and advanced on an infield out.

A crowd of 41,893 saw their hometown idols balloon the score to 11-2 in the seventh when Tom Acker hit two batsmen, gave up two walks, a wild pitch and Schoendienst's base-packed triple and two singles to steam up the basepaths. The 12th and final tally was Covington's second homer of the night in the eighth.

Senators Sock Yankees 3-2

Giants Defeat Dodgers 8-5; Cubs Turn Back Cardinals 5-1

The Associated Press

Gene Conley, who last spring figured "to have myself the best season of my major league career," then went winless for two months, has found the touch again. He's keeping the pennant pressing Milwaukee Braves perk in the National League Pennant race.

The big right-hander helped the Braves pad their lead to 1½ games Wednesday night, winning for the seventh time in his last eight decisions with a seven-hitter that beat fourth-place Cincinnati 12-2. The Braves have won 10 of their last 12 in a battle with St. Louis for the top spot, and Conley, now 7-5, has claimed four of the victories — the top contribution from Milwaukee's pitching staff.

Milwaukee edged farther ahead as the seventh-place Chicago Cubs, socked second-place St. Louis for the second night in a row, this time 5-1.

Third-place Brooklyn fell four games behind, losing 8-5 as the New York Giants scored five in the ninth and handed Don Newcombe his fourth consecutive defeat. Newk, who led the majors with a 27-7 record last season, made a splitting gesture toward the boating fans at Jersey City's Roosevelt Stadium as he walked off, still burning from Hank Sauer's pinch-hit three-run homer that triggered the uprising.

In the American League, Washington scored three in the ninth and beat New York 3-2. Chicago's second-place White Sox whipped Kansas City 7-0 on Jim Wilson's two-hitter. Boston defeated Baltimore 5-2 in 11 innings as Ted Williams hiked his batting average to .389 again. Detroit banged Cleveland 4-1.

Conley, a 26-year-old giant (he stands 6-8) who had a 14-9 rookie year in '54, was 11-7 in '55 then had shoulder troubles and an 8-9 record last season, was 0-4 before he beat Brooklyn in relief June 26. Since then, he's beaten New York three times, Cincinnati twice, and has added another over the Dodgers. Three were in relief.

The big guy, taking the mound shortly after his wife had given birth to their third child, breezed Wednesday night. The Braves backed him up with 15 hits off starter-loser Brooks Lawrence and four relievers. Wes Covington was 2-for-2, hammering his 11th and 12th home runs and adding a sacrifice fly for four runs batted in. He also scored four.

Rookie right-hander Dick Drott allowed only five singles, but needed Dick Littlefield's relief help to win his 10th for the Cubs. Littlefield came on in the eighth, with the bases loaded and one out—and got pinch-hitter Walker Cooper to hit into a double play. Walt Moryn, Bob Speake and Dale Long hit solo home runs for Chicago, with Speake cracking a 1-1 tie against loser Herm Wehmeier in the fourth inning.

Newcombe, shackled with 10 defeats for the first time since his sophomore season of 1950 when he was 19-11, hasn't had a complete game or victory since he won his ninth July 12 against Cincinnati in Jersey City. Brooklyn's home-away-from-home. After the game he said he was "too damn mad to remember" whether he actually spat at the fans.

Roy Campanella, with four singles in four at bats, drove in three Dodgers runs. Marv Grissom won it.

The Nats, who didn't have a hit for six innings and only two singles after eight, got to Tom Sturdivant when Roy Sievers hit a pinch single to open the ninth and Eddie Yost followed with a home run. Two singles, a sacrifice and Art Schult's sacrifice fly scored the clincher. Hank Bauer homered in the first for the Yanks and Mickey Mantle hit his 30th home run in the ninth. Bud Byerly won it in relief.

Williams, 2-for-5, including a two-run first-inning double, singled with two out in the Red Sox's three-run 11th, then scored the deciding run as Connie Johnson sat on the ground squawking over Umpire Ed Hurley's call at first base. Hurley ruled Johnson had failed to touch the bag after taking a toss from first baseman Bobby Boyd, who had fielded Mickey Vernon's grounder. Frank Sullivan won his 10th with a six-hitter.

Wilson, a 35-year-old right-hander who tops the AL with five shutouts, gained his second over the A's, giving up only a leadoff double to Billy Hunter and a fourth-inning single to Irv Noren. The White Sox wrapped it up against starter Maury McDermott with a six-run third inning on four walks, a hit batter and only three hits.

Billy Hoelt, now 4-5 after last season's 20 victories, fanned 10, walked none and had the Indians shut out on one hit for six innings. The Tigers locked it up with a three-run first inning against John Gray.

Tam O'Shanter Tourney Opens

Winner to Receive $50,000 in Cash

CHICAGO (AP)—They open the starting gate today for golf's gold rush, sending 100 men pros into frantic competition for shares of the $101,200 "World" championship at Tam O'Shanter.

Winner of the 72-hole struggle ending Sunday will receive $50,000 in cash plus a 50,000 exhibition contract. The champion virtually becomes the year's leading money winner with just this one victory.

Ted Krohl, the 1956 winner with a 15-under-par 273, thinks it will take about 277 to cash in this time.

"I had to finish with a 66 to win," he said. "It probably will take another such final round to get as low as 273. I don't think it will be done this time. Just ask who would settle right now for a 277 and you will find plenty of them."

There isn't a pro in the field who would attempt to handicap the tournament for the record. If you seek a favorite, you will get a list of at least eight names.

Those most frequently mentioned are five comparative youngsters — Gene Littler, whose course-record-matching 63 in the last round of the All American Monday boosted him to runner-up spot; Dow Finsterwald, the PGA's second leading money winner; Fred Hawkins, who took second in the "World" last year; and Bill Casper and Paul Harney, both with their games at a peak.

Sam Snead, leading money winner Doug Ford with $39,856, and Roberto de Vicenzo head the list of more seasoned contenders.

De Vicenzo, the strapping South American who registers out of Mexico City, won the All American sideshow and $3,500 with 273. But only once before has an All American winner also taken the "World" title. Lloyd Mangrum did it in 1948.

Among the women pros, Patty Berg will try for her fourth "World" title after winning the All American for the fifth time — a feat matched only by the late Babe Zaharias.

Clifford Ann Creed of Opelousas, La., tops a field of 12 for the women's amateur division.

Defending champion Ward Wetlaufer of Buffalo, N. Y., and crooner Don Cherry, the All American winner, are among favorites in the field of 12 men amateurs.

Brodie Will be Major Threat To New York

CHICAGO (AP)—If the College All-Stars surprise the New York Giants in Friday's prelude to the 1957 football season, the winning touch has to be airborne and Stanford's John Brodie appears the major passing threat to the world champions.

The collegians, guided by former Green Bay Coach Curly Lambeau, don't figure to budget the beefy Giant linemen very much.

Rather, the 75,000 spectators at Soldier Field Friday night should see some strong passing not only from Brodie but such other classy field generals as Notre Dame's Paul Hornung and Len Dawson of Purdue.

The All-Stars also have a wealth of pass-catching specialists dominated by Ron Kramer, ex-Michigan ace.

Such fleet halfbacks as Jon Arnett of Southern California, Jim Brown of Syracuse, Tom McDonald of Oklahoma and Abe Woodson of Illinois complement the receivers.

However, Brodie is the key to the attack. The Stanford ace has impressed camp observers with his savvy, leadership and accurate tosses.

Lambeau has been reluctant to give a starting lineup for his hand-picked squad but broad hints indicate Brodie will open at quarterback.

Lambeau is enthused about his stars. He says the 1957 array is as good as the team two years ago that stunned the Cleveland Browns 30-7.

"They've shown me they are capable of beating the Giants," says Lambeau.

However, the odds are against the All-Stars. NFL titlists have won 14 games against 7 for the collegians and there were two ties in the series.

The game will be televised by ABC at 8:30 p.m. EST.

Rademacher Appears In 1st Public Workout

SEATTLE (AP)—Former farmboy Pete Rademacher, deadly serious about his Aug. 22 outing with Floyd Patterson, settled down to an austere training schedule today after a first public workout that labeled his boxing ring long suit is strength rather than speed.

Some of Rademacher's friends from his Yakima Valley home area in Washington state were among the 150 persons who paid admissions to watch the former Olympic heavyweight champion box three practice rounds, punch the bag and run through calisthenics.

Sparring partner Clarence Hinant, faster than Rademacher, got in some stinging jabs but Pete crowded the other fighter into the ropes where he tossed some hard lefts and rights.

"Spectators were fairly agreed that Pete didn't look like an amateur," the Post-Intelligencer reported.

Rifle, Pistol Matches Set to Open Aug. 9

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—America's straight-shooters are about to launch the nation's noisiest sports events.

The loud competitions are the national rifle and pistol matches at Camp Perry, first held in 1903, and the 58th Grand American Trapshoot at Vandalia.

Some 3,500 competitors are slated to face the mile-long firing line at Camp Perry for the Aug. 9-Sept. 10 rifle-pistol matches, in which all the armed services, national guard units, civilians, womchildren will be represented.

Entry list for the big trapshoot, Aug. 16-24, is expected to top the 2,500 mark. More than a million rounds of ammunition will be fired at each scene.

'Down On The Farm'

News of Meetings, Helpful Hints For Farmers

Grain Harvest Nears End

Oats are now over 85 percent and wheat about 98 percent harvested.

Yields and quality of both crops in Ohio are generally below earlier expectations. The same was true of barley and rye, harvest of which was completed during July. Test weights for much of the wheat crop have been no higher than 55 pounds per bushel, while for oats test weights have been lighter than usual.

The past week was favorable for field work which allowed rapid progress in completing small grain harvest, baling straw, cutting second crop hay and cutting timothy for seed.

Other farm activities included pasture clipping and preparation of land for winter wheat.

Peaches are being harvested in some counties and some potatoes are being dug.

Corn averaged 65 inches in height as of the weekend, with 58 percent tasseled and 38 percent with silked ear shoots. By this date in 1956, 70 percent of the corn was tasseled while in 1955 about 85 percent of the corn had tasseled at this time.

Soybeans averaged 22 inches in height and were still largely in the pod forming or earlier stages. As of last Friday, about two-thirds of the counties report soil moisture supplies as short.

The period July 27-Aug. 2 was the warmest and driest of the growing season to date for most of Ohio. There was abundant sunshine, and temperatures rose to near, if not slightly above 90 degrees nearly every day. Coolest was in northeastern counties, the normal condition. For the second week in a row rainfall was noticeably deficient with practically none in northern counties while the southern half received thunderstorm rains ranging from less than a tenth inch to over 2 inches in the Cincinnati area.

This trend to dryness is a hold-over from July when rainfall was only a little over half normal expectancy, but contrasts markedly with experience during April, May and June. Growing season moisture is still ahead of the normal, although soils are rapidly becoming dry.

ASC Elections Under Way

Only a few more days remain for farmers to cast their ballots in the annual ASC election of community committeemen who will administer the price-support, acreage allotment, soil bank and cost-sharing conservation programs on the township level the next 12 months.

Each of the 1940 farm owners, operators, landlords and tenants eligible to vote in the ASC elections in Mahoning County has been mailed a ballot listing the candidates for community committeemen in his township. Next Monday, Aug. 12, is the final day for marking and returning the ballots to the county ASC office, according to L. L. Moff, chairman of the county ASC committee. The tally will be made March 15. To be elected in each township are three ASC community committeemen and two alternate committee members. The candidate who receives the greatest number of votes will be chairman of the township or community committee, and the one receiving the next highest number of votes will serve as vice-chairman. The third member and the first and second alternates will be similarly named on the basis of number of votes received.

The newly elected chairman and vice-chairman in each township will be delegate and alternate delegate to the county convention Aug. 27 at the County Office, 7 W. Main St., Canfield. All newly elected county and community committeemen will begin their one-year terms on Sept. 1.

4-H Steer Sale Aug. 21

The Columbiana County 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers steer sale will be held Aug. 21 at 8 p.m. at the county fairgrounds during the county fair.

Fifty head of steer will be exhibited by the youths who have raised the cattle.

RULING FAVORS SOHO

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Standard Oil Co. of Ohio is not violating any state law by purchasing gasoline from independent refineries during the strike which the Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers Union called at John T. Corrigan ruled Wednesday.

Police Continue Hunt For Mansfield Escapee

NEWARK, Ohio (AP)—Police today continued their search for a 16-year-old inmate of the Mansfield Reformatory who escaped from a guard Wednesday after being brought here to testify at an inquest.

The escapee, David Hottle of Newark, fled from a restaurant where the guard and he were eating after the inquest into the death of Linnie York, 21, of Newark. York was killed in an auto accident in Newark last March 31. He and Hottle were passengers in the car.

Police said Hottle had a long juvenile record and was sent to Mansfield for vandalism.

Falls Into Dry Well, Boy, 3, Doesn't Panic

ARCATA, Calif. (AP)—A little boy who didn't panic although imprisoned 15 feet down in the darkness of a dry well clutched a looped rope and was pulled out safely Wednesday on the fourth try.

Three other times, just as firemen got 3 1/2 year old Michael Swenson near the surface, he lost his grip and fell back, pulling sand down on him.

His anxious mother, Mrs. Dale Swenson, gasped: "I was more frightened than Mike was."

Mike fell feet first into the eight-inch-wide hole on the farm of T. F. Aultman, who had drilled the well in sandy soil Wednesday and covered it. Children removed the cover.

Mike's cries attracted his mother. He was pulled out 30 minutes later.

East Berlin Life

By VICTOR RIESEL

The hell with being global. Just steel is the toughest. When it's listen to the hearthrob of this lowered, there are no holes in it. It's the hearthrob of the world that's still left to us. Into its bustling streets, under its bright lights, slip the robots from the Communist sector — to escape from the free men of the Western sector. The easterners have a prison pallor.

It comes from slow starvation, a diet fixed by the Soviets who control all food sales. There's a vitamin deficiency. It weakens the people of the Eastern sector. Some one pointed out that the youngsters there play like normal children everywhere. But they do not run. They don't jump. Their energy seems sapped by something. Indeed it is.

To feel the difference you must stand just inside the free city — just this side of the "Swedish Curtain."

THE NEWSMEN here no longer call it the iron curtain. Iron rusts. The curtain corrodes into holes. But not a "Swedish" curtain. It is so named because Swedish curtained populace walk by the Soviet Embassy in East Berlin. If you look up to the brightly lit third floor, you can see whose picture hangs.

INDIAN QUEEN. — Dolores Jena Shorty, above, 19-year-old Navajo from Brigham City, Utah, was named Miss Indian America of 1957 at All American Indian Days at Sheridan, Wyo. There were 104 contestants from the U. S. and Canada.

When Molotov's portrait came down, the people didn't have to be told there was a purge and who was the new boss.

There is, for example, the Stalin Works. A neon sign says so. But when de-Stalinization was in flower, the word Stalin was darkened — not removed from the sign.

The people knew that the Kremlin policy was not yet certain. They were right. And sometimes the word Stalin lights up. Sometimes it is kept dark.

THE BIG STALIN statue was not dragged away. However, the name "STALIN" at the base of the statue has been effaced. And there the statue is today. If you watch carefully, you don't make political errors.

There is little reason for gayety. But perhaps something does tickle you. If you do laugh, you are suspect. Fact is that in some edifices, there are glass covered slits through which soldiers watch. If you laugh, or talk in groups, you are dispersed, or worse.

And remember Stalin Allee. It has become a boulevard of broken dreams. Here the anti-Communist revolt flared on June 17, 1953. That dream became a nightmare. On this street the Russians built their show apartment houses. That dream is over too.

The fronts are flaking off. The tiles are dropping away. It is like a movie set after the picture has been shot. Along with the opposition of course.

If this is East Berlin — and it is — the Communist zone of Germany is even tougher.

Small wonder then, that 2,500 men, women and children flee the socialist paradise each week. Over 10,000 a month.

Amongst the refugees into West Berlin are doctors, editors, students, and more recently even Communist party officials who can no longer take it themselves.

They come over, they feel the hearthrob of the free world, a little island world a hundred miles inside Soviet territory, and they make the break.

It isn't the food. It isn't the clothes. The refugees come over without a pennig. But here they can laugh.

Vegetables, Noodles Make Main Dish Magic

For casual, carefree meals, serve this Vegetable Custard Noodle Bake either hot or cold on a buffet table accompanied with a fresh garden salad, your choice of cold cuts and cheese and a seasonal fresh fruit compote. Here is sheer eating pleasure for all.

Vegetable Custard Noodle Bake
4 ozs. broad egg noodles, 10-oz. package quick-frozen mixed vegetables, 3 eggs slightly beaten, 2 tablespoons granulated sugar, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 6-oz. can sliced broiled mushrooms, 1 cup finely chopped onion, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, 1-3 cup sliced stuffed olives.

Add 1 tablespoon salt to 1 quart rapidly boiling water. Gradually add noodles so that water continues to boil. Cook, uncovered stirring occasionally until tender. Drain in colander. Meanwhile cook mixed vegetables until tender-crisp according to package directions.

Break eggs into large bowl and beat by hand or in electric mixer until frothy. Add sugar and salt and beat until thick and lemon color. Combine and add milk and Worcestershire sauce. Drain mushrooms reserving broth for future use.

Saute onions in butter until tender, about 5 minutes. Slice olives. Combine mixed vegetables, mushrooms, onion and olives. Cover bottom of shallow baking dish, 10" x 6" x 1 1/2" with 1/2 of cooked noodles, followed by 1/2 of combined vegetable mixture.

Pour 1/2 of custard mixture over all and repeat at layers pouring remaining custard over top. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 5 minutes or until custard sets.

Seeing is Believing - - -

A cow that roller skates? A pooch that struts about like a human and drinks from the bottle? Here's photographic proof these things do happen. The roller-skating bossy, Lady Linda, above, churns along a Little Rock, Ark., sidewalk on her homemade roller skates. Lady Linda's owner, Doc (Peg) Ford, of North Little Rock, spent 18 months teaching her to skate. Doc, who gets around pretty well himself on just one leg, says the free-wheeling Guernsey enjoys her unusual means of locomotion. Brownie, left, a pooch of undetermined origin, probably doesn't know what the expression a "dog's life" means. All dressed up for a morning stroll, Brownie takes time out for a cool drink, supplied by her master. They live in Austin, Texas.

Washingtonville

The Women's Missionary Society of the Trinity Lutheran Church met in the social room of the church recently. Miss Archer of the Kentucky Bible Institute showed pictures of the Holy Land. The next meeting will be held Sept. 3.

Mrs. Louis Atkinson was hostess to the South Side club in her home Wednesday evening with Mrs. Herbert Hartley, Mrs. Simon Koontz and Mrs. Harley Hall of Ardmore, Okla. as guests. Mrs. Hartley, Mrs. Howard Stouffer, Mrs. Joseph Less and Mrs. Norman Kornbau shared honors in "500." The club will meet again in two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stouffer and Mr. and Mrs. Harley Hall and family spent Thursday evening in the home of their sister and aunt, Mrs. Minnie Denner of Youngstown.

Mrs. George King Sr. is confined to her home.

Mrs. Hilda Simpson Wells of Washington, D.C. and son Matthew Wells of Salem, Va., have returned to their homes after visiting Misses Eva and Sarah Simpson.

Kitchen arithmetic: 1 cup of uncooked elbow macaroni (4 ounces) usually makes 2 cups cooked. Count on spaghetti doubling its bulk, too.

Clothespins Are Tool for Treat

Want to have some fun? Make up a batch of our yeast dough and get yourself some clean non-spring clothespins. Wind strips of the rolled-out dough around the pins and bake. Pull the pins out and fill the 'scrolls' with a savory cheese mixture, then reheat and serve with tomato juice or some other cold drink for an unusual party snack.

We kept some of these scrolls in a tightly-covered container for about a week, and although they hardened we filled them with the cheese mixture and heated them. We liked them just as well then as we did when they were fresh because they were so crisp.

Clothespin Rolls

Ingredients:  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup milk,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup sugar,  $\frac{2}{3}$  teaspoon salt,  $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon shortening,  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup warm (near 105 degrees) water, 1 package active dry yeast,  $\frac{1}{2}$  cups (about) sifted flour.

Method: Scald milk. Stir in sugar, salt and shortening. Cool to lukewarm. Measure warm water into large mixing bowl; sprinkle in yeast; stir until dissolved. Stir in lukewarm milk mixture. Stir in about half the flour; with spoon, beat until smooth. Stir in remaining flour. Turn out on lightly floured board. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in greased bowl; brush top of dough with shortening. Cover with clean towel; let rise in warm place (about 85 degrees) free from draft, until doubled in bulk — about 1 hour. Punch down and turn out on lightly floured board. Roll dough to  $\frac{1}{4}$ -inch thickness. Cut in strips 1-3 inch by 6 inches. Wind each strip around a greased wooden non-spring clothespin (round or square). Bake in hot (400 degrees) oven about 12 minutes. Pull out clothespins gently. Makes about 60 scrolls.

Note: These scrolls are more crisp than "breadies" due to the one rising.

Marine Regiment To be Transferred

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon said today the 9th Marine Regiment will be transferred soon from Japan to Okinawa.

Formal announcement of the departure of the last ground combat force from Japan was delayed until this week to avoid any possible effect on the Okinawa elections held several days ago.

The Department of Defense said an advance party of the reinforced regiment, which has a strength of about 7,000 men, will leave Japan for Okinawa in a few days to prepare for the transfer of the main body of troops.

The departure of the regiment from Japan will leave these U. S. forces in that country: the 3rd Marine Air Wing, numbering about 6,400 men; a U. S. Navy establishment of some 7,000; Air Force units totaling about 50,000; and 17,000 Army support and caretaker troops.

House Again Bars Air Force Chapel

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second time in two years, the House has blocked plans to build a modernistic chapel at the new Air Force Academy.

The House decided 102-53 Tuesday to forbid use of funds in a money bill to build the chapel as it is now designed.

Widespread protest in 1955 against the original design of the chapel caused the Air Force to abandon those plans and to await further action by Congress before building the chapel at its academy at Colorado Springs, Colo. For a time, the entire academy project was threatened then.

The Air Force came back this year with new plans and a request for three million dollars to start the project, but the House said no.

On the House floor Tuesday, one critic called the new chapel plan a monstrosity. A supporter conceded it is "a bit futuristic."

Heart, Blood Vessels

The importance of extending our knowledge about diseases of the heart and blood vessels can be appreciated by mentioning a few figures.

In 1955, such diseases were responsible for over 800,000 deaths in the United States, or approximately 53 per cent of all deaths.

In this country alone, approximately one person out of 16 suffers from some form of heart or circulatory disease.

Even children are not exempt. Many of them, also, have some form of trouble of this nature. Theirs principally originates from rheumatic fever or from congenital heart disease.

Economic loss from diseases of the heart and circulation is estimated at over two and one-half billion dollars annually.

The three most important causes of heart disease are atherosclerosis, more commonly known as hardening of the arteries; high blood pressure (which may or may not be associated with atherosclerosis); and rheumatic fever, which is so commonly followed by rheumatic heart disease.

I do not wish to frighten people — either about the toll from heart and circulatory disease or from any other cause. It should be pointed out, therefore, that progress is being made.

While there is no agreement on the underlying causes of high blood pressure, atherosclerosis or even rheumatic fever, research has already begun to bring notable improvements in the management, and sometimes the prevention of certain forms of heart disease.

The most dramatic relates to endorse the Heart Fund Campaign of the American Heart Association, so much of the income from which is spent on this needed research.

Men's Sunday Brunch Fare Is Prime Steak

From California comes this suggestion for a Sunday brunch men will enjoy.

The prime requisite of an outdoor meal for 12 hungry men—or women—is about 6 pounds of full-flavored, tender steak. We used a full cut of round, including the top, bottom and eye, 2 inches thick and weighing close to 7 pounds. We made this thrifty cut tender before cooking with a modern meat tenderizer.

Barbecued Round Steak (Serves 12)

In advance: Sprinkle the steak evenly on both sides with a seasoned meat tenderizer. Pierce all over with long-pronged fork. Stand at room temperature 1 hour or cover loosely and refrigerate overnight.

At brunch time: Slash fat edges of steak to prevent curling. Brush steak with Fench dressing or barbecue sauce. Broil over glowing charcoal, with grill set 6 inches from heat. Allow 12-14 minutes per side for perfect rare steak, 14-16 minutes for medium (remember, tenderizer reduces cooking time and shrinkage about one fourth).

To serve: Remove steak to cutting board. Carve across the grain in thick diagonal slices.

Here's a good brunch pattern: tomato juice on the rocks (Bloody Mary style with vodka, or plain with Worcestershire sauce), generous slices of steak, hashed brown potatoes, eggs fried with chopped onions and chives, beaten biscuits with honey butter, fresh strawberries or other berries in sweet or sour cream, and lots of coffee.

Kitchen Arithmetic: Heavy cream doubles its volume after it has been beaten.

Cake a la Mode Makes Easy Dessert

What is better than ice cream with ice cream in advance and stored in the freezer until serving time.

Fresh or frozen fruits may be used and to complete the self-service style, serve a dish of whipped cream.

Listen to the raves when your family or guests see this attractive ice cream service. With a help-yourself style dessert the teen-agers will really have fun taking generous servings.

Bake a sponge cake in a large fluted mold or tube pan and when cool fill the center with scoops of two or three different flavors of ice cream. The cake may be filled

Pastel Cake A La Mode

1 sponge cake, 1 quart vanilla ice cream, 1 quart strawberry ripple ice cream, 1 quart cherry ice cream, 2 cups strawberries, 1 cup whipping cream

Hot Milk Sponge Cake

2 cups cake flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 4 eggs, 1 1/2 cups sugar, 1 cup milk, scalded, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 3 tablespoons butter, melted.

Sift flour, measure; sift three times with salt and baking powder. Beat eggs until light and lemon colored; add sugar gradually and beat until fluffy. Fold in four mixture. Add scalded milk, flavoring and melted butter last. Fold until well blended.

Pour into a 3 quart buttered and lightly floured ring mold or tube pan. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., 30 minutes. Cool in pan. When cool remove from pan and serve on cake plate filled with vanilla, cherry and strawberry ripple ice cream. Serve with strawberries. Top with whipped cream. Makes 10 servings.

That healthy look a farmer has comes partly from what he eats. A survey reveals that farm families have more of all nutrients except two than city families. Farm diets may lack vitamin A found in dark-green and deep-yellow vegetables and the citrus-fruit vitamin C.

If you're heating French bread, count on about 10 minutes in a moderate (350 degrees) oven.

Pimientos Add Zest to Chicken

Chicken and noodles never had it so good before. Tender pieces of chicken over noodles which have been cooked with flavorful whole canned pimientos make the best tasting main dish you could put before a hungry family.

The secret is in the blending of the delicate flavors of the pimientos with the other seasonings in the broth in which the chicken has been cooked.

As with most good one-dish recipes, this one too has variations. The chicken can be a whole chicken, cut into pieces — or your favorite pieces — or, if you prefer, a whole chicken gently stewed and the meat removed from the bones before serving — just so long as you follow the directions for the delicious pimiento-flavored broth in which to cook the noodles.

Chicken 'n Pimiento Noodles

1 large broiler chicken, cut-up (or pieces of your choice), 2 tablespoons butter or margarine, salt, 1/2 teaspoon celery salt, 1 quart water, 4 tablespoons chopped onions, 1 4-oz. can or jar whole pimientos, 1 12 oz. package broad egg noodles, 1 cup milk.

Season chicken with salt. Heat butter in large heavy kettle. Brown chicken on all sides in butter. Add celery salt and onion. Cover with 1 quart of water and lower heat. Simmer until chicken is tender — about 45 minutes. Remove from broth. To the broth in which chicken has been cooked, add chopped pimiento and milk and bring to a boil. Add noodles immediately and cook until tender — 10 to 12 minutes. Add more seasoning if necessary. Serve immediately, placing chicken on top of noodles in large platter. Garnish with extra pieces of pimiento and parsley. Any sauce left in the kettle may be served in a separate dish to pour over the chicken and noodles.
